Sūrah al-Mujādila, a Madani surah, is the 58th surah in the current order of compilation of the Qur'an. This 105th surah to be revealed to our Holy Prophet (S) is in 28th juz' and has 22 ayaah, 475 words, and 2,046 letters.

This surah is called Sūrah al-Mujādila (the Pleading) because at the beginning of it, there is a mention of the story of a woman who pleaded with the Prophet (S) about her husband who repudiated her by zihar (zihar means that a husband wrongly likens his wife to his mother and there are rulings about it in jurisprudence). Thus, this surah is called "al-Zihar" as well. Another name of this sura is "Qad Sami'-a" because it begins with this phrase (the start of 28th Juz). A special attribute of Sūrah al-Mujādila is that it is the only surah, in all ayaah of which the name of "Allah" is mentioned.

In a hadith from the Prophet (S), it is mentioned, "anyone who recites Sūrah al-Mujādila, will be in confederates of God." According to another hadith, "anyone who recites Sūrah al-Mujādila and Surah al-Hadid in his daily prayers frequently, God will not punish him in all his life and his family will not receive any harm either and will not be afflicted with poverty and misery."
